Hi everyone and welcome to the #life-etc @channel 😊👋

The purpose of this channel is to help you fit study into your life.

I'll be using this channel to support you on your online journey from a study-life balance perspective. Please feel free to use this channel to:

- ask me about anything I post
- share tips with each other on what works for you to balance the course with the rest of your life
- give me suggestions re specific topics you would like me to cover
- ask for help if you feel you are falling behind

I work Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays and you can direct message me if you don't want to post to the full group.

I strongly recommend that you begin to work out a plan as to how you intend to fit your course work into your life. You can find a couple of videos about this on my Tutors "life etc" card <https://tutors.dev/course/life-etc-2023>

You also have the option to book a one-to-one Time management session with me - see attached image for more details.

I'm looking forward to meeting you all next week.

Laura 😊

Opportunity

A still life photograph of a tea set. In the foreground, a clear glass cup filled with a red liquid sits on a matching glass saucer. A slice of citrus fruit, possibly a blood orange, is placed on the saucer next to the cup. To the left of the cup, a silver spoon lies on the dark wooden surface. In the background, a glass teapot and a glass pitcher, both containing the same red liquid, are visible. The scene is dimly lit, creating a warm and cozy atmosphere. The text "Time for a cuppa" is overlaid on the right side of the image, with a vertical line separating it from the rest of the scene.
